Technical Capability: Our personnel have proven experience in the field of systems engineering and requirements which allow for the continuance of suggesting and implementing the latest innovations in SE processes. We have provided systems engineering, requirements management, analysis and test support services, with associated systems and processes, to the US Navy under a large number of DoD and non-DoD contract vehicles. H-T has maintained a certified DOORS trainer to augment Telelogic's professional staff and has developed and currently operates DOORS-based Requirements Management Systems (RMS) for the NAVAIR ACAT 1 Programs, Joint Strike Fighter Program, the BAMS UAV Program and the MMA Program. These systems support development, review, and validation of test and operational requirements and provide the ability to link and relate this data to other systems for interoperability and to trace each requirement to its original source and guidance. Developed and copyrighted as a proprietary software application and protected as such by asserted Government Purpose Rights under DFAR 252.227-7014, Rights in Noncommercial Computer Software and Noncommercial Computer Software Documentation (Jun 1995), the RMS produces coordination, review, linkage, and analysis reports in hard and soft copy, and signature-ready documents in compliance with JCS Instruction 3170.01, 5000.2R and NAVAIR formats. H-T's knowledge of new acquisition management technologies and our extensive experience with Telelogic's DOORS database provide an unparalleled low-risk capability. Our successes in meeting these needs for the JSF, MMA, and numerous other programs provide evidence of our ability to support diverse client requirements.
